Brief Report : A Visit to Sateri Self Help Group

As a part of the curriculum a field visit was undertaken to Shree Santeri Self Help Group Gaval Khola self-help group of Gaval Khola, Cabo De Rama on 12.10.2018. Assistant Professor Mrs. Vithai Zarakker accompanied the students. Shree Sateri SHG is one of the oldest groups in the village Khola registered under the SHGs around eight years ago. This group consists of 17 members formed to help each other through their little collection and hard work inputs.

Functioning

It is learnt that the group conducts meetings once in a week and collects a sum of rupees fifty from every member a month. One of the members takes the responsibility of depositing the money in the bank. Apart from this, the members participate collectively in agricultural activities. They are involved in shifting cultivation wherein they grow cucumber, mesh melon, chillies and other type of vegetables. They also produce sweet potatoes, and other tubers. These women are also active in the cultural domain. Their fugdi, kalsi and divli dances in the taluka and state competitions have brought them laurels in the cultural festivals like Shigmo.

The pooled money is used for purposes such as education of children, marriages, festivals such as Ganesh chaturthi, birthdays or in times when there is a dire need. They only give the loans to their group member's on interest @ Rs.1 on Rs. 100. Some landless village men borrow land on rent. The rent on land cost is generally around rupees. 400, and is at times also determined as per the use of land. Thus, one may ascertain the fact that the Self Help Groups help the women in mobilising the resources and cultivating a spirit of collective participation.
