Brief Report: Resource person gave a brief introduction on IPR and explained the various related terms such as copyrights, patents etc. The main purpose of intellectual property right is to encourage the creation of a wide variety of intellectual goods. These property rights allow the holder to exercise a monopoly on the use of the item for a specified period.

Workshop created great impact on the entire audience. Students were taught on how IPR restricts copying others ideas and how this will help the development of new ideas for the betterment of the society. Students learnt how IPR provides total control over a new innovation and its creator. They were also given a platform to discuss how small innovations influence societies at large and how they should indulge in innovating and patenting ideas that will be useful for all the classes of individuals in the society.

Firstly, Dr Arvind Haldankar Head Department of Sociology introduced the theme of the workshop. Principal Dr. Manoj Kamat welcomed and introduced the speaker Smt. Prachi Prabhu and emphasized the need to debate and discuss issues concerning gender in the Indian society. Soon after the welcome, the speaker dealt with issues such as Gender trouble and gender inequality arising out of it. She explained as to how society looks at men and women differently and in turn also attribute roles in distinct manner. Furthermore, the students learnt about the basic distinction between sex and gender. While sex refers to biologically properties, gender is to be understood as a socially constructed variable. The distinction between the two was deliberated with a multiple illustrations. Ms Prabhu posed some fundamental questions before the students of how people negotiate with our lives in shaping our experiences in determining the idea of gender. She spoke about the process of socialization handled by agencies such as family, school, community, office, media, religion and division of labour.

Secondly, the speaker discussed male domination and the concomitant gender discriminatory practices resulting in violence against women. It is evident from this fact that women face more problems than men in the Indian society. The LGBT (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender) community is yet another social component which is more vulnerable to problems. Violence against women in any form is an offence and gender discrimination is not to be viewed as women issue but a human issue, remarked Ms Prachi. Ms. Drusila Fernandes from Third Year Bachelor of Arts class thanked the speaker on behalf of College and the Sociology Department.

Brief Report:

The Department of Sociology in association with Sangath organised a workshop on 'Suicide Prevention Programme' on 19.01.2019. The workshop was guided by Ms Donna Noronha and Ms Madhuri Marathe as resource persons. Ms Donna Noronha works for the COOJ Mental health foundation, Mapusa and is the Project coordinator for the COOJ Suicide prevention programme. Ms Madhuri Marathe is a Psychology consultant and an intern at Department of Women and Child welfare, Government of Goa. Dr. Arvind N. Haldankar, Head of the Department of Sociology introduced the theme of the workshop and highlighted the increasing suicide rates prevalent in the society especially among the youth and the need to combat it. Principal Dr. M. S. Kamat introduced and welcomed the speakers, Ms Donna Noronha and Ms Madhuri Marathe. He also posed a cordial welcome to the students and trustee Dr. Dhillon Dessai and Ms Shreyas Kamat from Sangath on the occasion. Dr. Kamat called for a need to deliberate on the theme as there is a rising concern in the death cases resulting out of suicide. Life is valuable and worthwhile even though we may not feel so, he added. Dr. Dhillon Dessai too expressed a few instances of the problem drawing inferences from close quarters. The resource persons engaged at length on the problem of suicide and suggested several ways of preventing it. Ms Donna lamented, "People who think of committing suicide do not actually want to. It is their desperate cry for help and they just want someone to reach out to them. They need to know it is not the solution to the problems they are facing. With a little bit of love, hope and sensitivity we can help someone and prevent them from ending their life".

Furthermore, Donna briefed on the warning signs one needs to be aware of persons showing suicidal tendencies such as talking about suicide, death and/or no reason to live, being preoccupied with death and dying, withdrawal from friends and/or social activities, having a recent severe loss or threat of a significant loss, experiencing significant changes in behaviour, losing interest in hobbies, work, school etc., preparing for death by making out a will and final arrangements, giving away prized possessions, having attempted suicide before, increasing use of alcohol or drugs, unwilling to connect with potential helpers, expressing a sense of hopelessness, etc. Ms Madhuri then took charge of the session, wherein she suggested the following observations to be considered such as, taking them seriously (many people who have committed suicide have spoken about it at some point or the other), don't leave the person alone, inform the person's nearest family members, show them that you care, make them understand that their life is important, be understanding towards them and don't judge them, keep all harmful items away from the person, try and convince them to seek professional help, keep in constant touch with the person and help them to get their life back together. She added, 'for people feeling hopeless or getting suicidal thoughts, they need to talk to someone they trust about their problem or visit the nearest counsellor or doctor preferably a psychiatrist. They need to give themselves time to get better, spend some time in prayer, make a list of their strengths and focus on them. The COOJ team informed the students of Helpline no. 0832-2252525 available from Monday to Friday between 3:00 pm to 7:00 pm. The session brought in a lot of awareness and alert among the students as the resource persons enacted role plays with the students. Shreyas Kamat spoke about the association of Sangath with the Department of Sociology of Shree Mallikarjun College and the various programmes undertaken by them in collaboration. The programme concluded with a vote of thanks by Ms. Drusilla Fernandes.

Brief Report:

The Department of Sociology of Shree Mallikarjun College of Arts, Commerce and Science organized a talk by Shri Kamalakar Mhalshi on 'Responsible Citizens' as a part of T. B. Cunha Civic Club lecture series on 23.01.2019. Shri. Kamalakar Mhalshi is an eminent personality and acting Principal of Balram Higher Secondary School, Canacona. Shri Mhalshi has contributed enormously to field of culture and language and has been a key figure in documenting the socio cultural profile of the taluka of Canacona. Dr. Arvind N. Haldankar, Head Department of Sociology introduced and welcomed the speaker. Dr. Haldankar reflected on the on-going contribution of Shri Mhalshi in the different fields, and especially in the domain of education. Mhalshi began his lecture on a beautiful note demonstrating, as to why Goa remains a preferred tourist destination for rest of the world. He mentioned, it is only not the environment or ecology that pulls any person to this state, but moreover, it is the people who are more dearly and always ready to welcome people. This dearly nature and welcoming personality of many men and women is one of the instrumental factors for people pouring down in Goa heavily for not merely visiting it but also permanently settling for the rest of their life. It reflects a universal gesture of embracing humanity breaking barriers of man-made distinctions such as caste, religion, etc. Undoubtedly, the Goans at some point of time displayed the feature of benevolence, respect and openness in their lifeblood and culture. The modern times however have manifested changes among the Goans. We seem to miss out some aspects of our cultural understanding, responsibilities, respect that our ancestor had earned for generations. We should hold on to our responsibilities by inculcating good values which our ancestors earned of respecting others. Mhalshi further spoke about the duties of citizens and the competing challenges the youth need to confront in their day to day lives. As responsible citizens, the educated youth of the country need to think and create alternative options for self-employment, he opined. Ms. Abigal Barreto President of civic club compered the program and thanked the gathering and the speaker.

Brief Report:

On 18/02/19 between 10.30 – 11.45 SMC students of FYBA were addressed by Mrs. Savita Tawadkar on the theme entitled "Etiquettes in everyday life". The lecture was organized by department of sociology under T.B.Cunha Civic Club. Mrs. Tawadkar is the headmistress of Balaram Residential high school, Amone. The program started with the warm floral welcome followed with the brief introduction of guest by Dr. Haldanka, HOD department of Sociology. Mrs. Savita Tawadkar throughout her talk basically focused on basic etiquettes we should follow when we are around others. First of all she explained the meaning of etiquettes i.e. etiquettes refers to the polite behavior or conduct in social situation. Her talk followed with the life of civilian, she said if we follow the basic etiquettes in our life than each civilian will be an equivalent to the soldier. If we do our duty properly than we don't have to make rules to go things in right direction, things would automatically go in right direction that would enhance the peace in society, But unfortunately this is not happening. She further argued that most of the time we are not bothered about the things or happenings around us, here she gave some of the best examples on energy. She said suppose in the classroom if you are the last person to leave the classroom you should put off all the lights and fans but you are not bothered since you don't have to pay the bills but if you had taken little efforts you could have saved energy and money. Similarly we ignore many things that happens around us throwing wrappers when you eat chocolates, spitting that can distract the life of others and spread many diseases, using toilets should be made mandatory to make our environment clean and healthy for living beings, helping others in needs. She concluded the session requesting students to follow the basic etiquettes to develop ourselves as the best civilian of this country and to have care and concern for humanity. Ms. Vithai Zaraunkar Asst. Prof. in Sociology thanked the gathering; Dr. Haldankar supported the occasion and guided students. All the preparations were made by the students of FYBA. The programme was organized by department of sociology, Shree Mallikarjun College Canacona.

Report of Workshop on Curriculum and Pedagogy in Geography

The Department of Geography of Shree Mallikarjun and Shri Chetan Manju Desai College organized one day state level workshop for faculty of Geography of all Colleges, related general program theory and practical papers in Geography under Goa University curriculum on 20th July 2019. It was felt necessary to bring uniformity in the approach for the process of teaching and learning in Geography among Geography teachers and therefore the Department of Geography took lead in organizing the workshop.

The workshop was inaugurated at the hands of Prof. B. S. Ingalhalli, keynote speaker. In his address, the speaker elaborated on the interdisciplinary nature of Geography and asked all Geographers especially young teachers dealing with Geography to take profound interest in understanding of geographical phenomena and incorporating such observation while teaching the subject. He further stressed on working together for the betterment of the subject and appreciated the Department of Geography for taking lead in this direction.

Dr. P. K. Rath, Associate Professor at Government College of Arts, Science & Commerce, Khandola, Marcela - Goa, Ex Chairperson of Board of Studies in Geography at Goa University explained the process involved in drafting and finalization of syllabus and requested experienced teachers to contribute their inputs to enrich the syllabi of the subject. Dr. Pravina Kerkar, Associate Professor at Government College of Arts, Science & Commerce, Khandola, Marcela - Goa and Chairperson of Board of Studies in Geography at Goa University, enlightened the participants about the present syllabus requirements to be taken up by the teachers while handling Geography courses.

In the beginning, Dr. F. M. Nadaf, Vice Principal, welcomed the guests and participants for the workshop and sought cooperation from all the Geography fraternity to cooperate and coordinate for the development of the subject. Dr. C. P. Hiremath, HoD, Department of Geography, highlighted on the purpose of the workshop and requested the participant to put forth their valuable inputs for the enrichment of the geographical content.

After the inaugural programme, the group of participants were made to facilitate discussion on essentials while dealing with courses floated as Discipline Specific Core (DSC), Discipline Specific Elective (DSE), Generic Elective (GE), Skill Enhancement (SEC) and to present before all the participants. All the Resource Persons, who headed the group discussions, presented the outcome of the discussion and outline actions to be followed by the teachers. In all, 15 faculty members from different colleges participated in this day long workshop which concluded with valedictory programme at 400 pm in the evening.

Brief Report:

Department of Sociology organised a talk on 'Gender Equaity' by Advocate Ms. Deepali Agrasani on 05.04.19. Dr. Arvind N. Haldankar, HOD sociology welcomed and introduced the Guest speaker. Ms Agrasani focused on types of inequalities existing in our society at different places in different forms. The three types of gender inequalities are national gender inequality, household inequality, and property inequality. The speaker explained the above forms of inequalities with lucid examples. One of the examples of household gender inequality was her maid being left by her husband only because she was unable to give birth to baby boy. This example portrays the kind of a declining value and blame, our society attaches to women. Presently, the Indian society demonstrates a mixed bag of attitudes towards women. While some cultures are very liberal there are others where the discriminatory practices are on a rise, she added. The people of Goa are fortunate enough to avail of egalitarian laws such as the Uniform Civil Code. The law is upheld hitherto even when Portuguese regime has come to an end a long time ago. Secondly, the speaker explained the importance of Domestic Violence Act 2005 ensuring protection for women in the household domain. She also spoke on the trajectory of law and the procedural hindrances confronted by women especially the illiterate ones. Ms Agrasani stressed the need to have efficient legal systems in place to facilitative justice in a speedy manner. A total of 35 students attended the programme. The students interacted well with the speaker towards the end receiving convincing replies from the legal expert. Ms. Vithai Zaraunker, Asst. Prof. Sociology proposed the vote of thanks.
